

LIXIL Environmental Sustainability Principles

Striving to help people live in harmony with the earth, LIXIL Group is committed to continuing its environmentally sound efforts in every aspect of our businesses activities.

Continually improve environmental management systems and performance

Under the leadership of top management, we continually improve our environmental management systems and incorporate our key environmental principles and goals into business activities, to improve our environmental performance.

Adhere to rigorous compliance

We ensure that all necessary environmental aspects assessments are performed for all of our business activities. We are also committed to complying with environmental laws, regulations, and agreements as well as applying strict internal standards to prevent severe accidents and pollution and help protect the environment.

Develop and provide environmentally sound products and services

We assess environmental impact across the lifecycle of our products and services, and are committed to developing and providing products and services that contribute to tackling environmental-challenges such as water scarcity and climate change as well as improving the quality of living environment.

Reduce environmental impact in every process of the business operation

We implement environmentally sound operations for all of our business activities and ensure our processes support the sustainable use of resources, efficient use of energy and water, and appropriate management and reduction of waste and chemical substances.

Proactively communicate with all stakeholders

As a member of the local community and society, we build better mutual understanding with customers, the communities we serve, suppliers and employees through open dialogue and the development of activities that raise awareness and encourage environmental conservation practices. To increase public trust, we also ensure that information pertaining to our environmental sustainability principles and the practices we employ are fully disclosed in an accurate manner.