LIXIL Endorses the World Toilet Organization’s Japan Declaration on Sanitation and Hygiene

The World Toilet Organization, LIXIL Group, Saraya, and ANA’s BLUE WING Program issue joint declaration to mark World Toilet Day 2017

Tokyo, Japan – LIXIL Group Corporation (“LIXIL Group”), a global leader in the housing and building industry, today endorsed a joint declaration with the World Toilet Organization, Saraya Co., Ltd., and the ANA BLUE WING Program on sanitation and hygiene. The declaration outlines their joint commitment to support the realization of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goal 6 (SDG 6): Ensure access to water and sanitation for all. The declaration was announced at an event in Tokyo to mark World Toilet Day.

Approximately 2.3 billion people around the world lack access to safe and sanitary toilets, of which around 892 million people are forced to practice open defecation. Every day, 800 children under five years old die from diarrheal diseases due to unclean water or poor sanitary conditions. According to a survey conducted by LIXIL Group and Oxford Economics, the economic impact of poor sanitation amounted to $223 billion annually as of 2015.

As part of the declaration, LIXIL Group, the World Toilet Organization, Saraya, and the ANA BLUE WING Program believe that in order to realize SDG 6, affordable and sustainable innovations and solutions must be brought to market, and that Japan has an important role to play owing to its unique and advanced toilet culture. The World Toilet Organization, LIXIL Group, Saraya, and the ANA BLUE WING Program will utilize their accumulated knowledge and expertise to promote activities aimed at resolving sanitation issues around the world.

Speaking at the Tokyo event, World Toilet Organization founder and CEO, Jack Sim, said, “Toilets are culture. With good toilet culture, behavior change will come. Japan has successfully exported many aspects of its culture to the world, for example manga, Japanese food, kaizen; now is the time for Japan’s toilet culture. Today’s declaration is the first step. We call upon others in Japan to join this movement. This will bring many benefits to those in the world who lack proper sanitation, and also enhance Japan’s soft power.”
LIXIL Group Executive Officer and Senior Managing Director, Jin Montesano, said, “At LIXIL we believe that access to safe and hygienic sanitation is a basic human right, and that the knowledge and technologies exist to tackle this problem. We are committed to playing our part to bring innovative and sustainable solutions to market, such as the SATO range of affordable toilet products, and enhancing coordination with other Japanese stakeholders in line with today’s declaration.”

As a global leader in sanitary ware and water technology, LIXIL Group has pledged to improve access to sanitation for 100 million people by 2020. To achieve this, the company has established a dedicated business called Social Sanitation Initiatives that is developing and bringing to market innovative technologies aimed at the base of the pyramid. Among these is the SATO range of affordable toilet solutions, which are already trusted and used by more than six million people in over 15 countries in Africa, Asia, and Latin America.

On the occasion of World Toilet Day 2017, we, the World Toilet Organization (WTO), convened leading Japanese companies who share our commitment to tackling the persistent and growing challenges facing global sanitation and hygiene. WTO and companies LIXIL Group, SARAYA Co., Ltd. and ANA Holdings Inc. BLUE WING Program met to elevate awareness and understanding of this important issue and discuss the role that Japan can play to enable universal access to safe and clean sanitation. These leading companies and WTO confirmed their commitment to addressing the issue by signing the new Japan Declaration on Sanitation & Hygiene.

PRINCIPLES:
By endorsing this declaration, we recognize that today, despite the availability of innovative products, technologies, and solutions, some 2.3 billion people worldwide still live without access to proper sanitation. Approximately 892 million people still practice open defecation, while 800 children under the age of five die every day from diarrheal diseases caused by dirty water, contamination and disease related to living conditions created by poor sanitation.

We fully support the UN’s Sustainable Development Goal 6 (SDG 6), in particular target 6.2, “By 2030, achieve access to adequate and equitable sanitation and hygiene for all and an end to open defecation, paying special attention to the needs of women and girls and those in vulnerable situations.”

We note that, although significant contributions have been made by a variety of public and private stakeholders, progress in tackling the sanitation and hygiene challenge remains slow.

We believe, with the unique and advanced knowledge, technology and expertise that Japanese companies possess in the field of sanitary ware and in particular toilets, Japan can make a significant contribution in the development and offer of innovative solutions to improving access to sanitation and hygiene across the world.

COMMITMENTS:
By leveraging our unique expertise, resources, skills, and networks, endorsers of the declaration commit to doing our part to:

- Maintain and expand programs to develop innovative toilet and sanitation solutions targeted toward the base of the pyramid and bring these to market in a sustainable way, leveraging the high standards and technical expertise of Japan’s unique toilet culture.
- Actively engage representatives in governments, development agencies and non-governmental stakeholders to enable the trialing, testing and monitoring of such solutions in countries working to improve access to sanitation and hygiene.
- Enhance coordination on SDG 6 at the national and international level to work more efficiently and effectively together and strengthen the contribution that Japan is making.
- Enhance awareness-raising and advocacy initiatives to bring greater recognition of the need for a multi-stakeholder approach and to build broad-based support.
