LIXIL Brands Win Ten iF Design Awards in 2017

Products combine human-centric innovation, aesthetics and quality

Tokyo, Japan – LIXIL Corporation (“LIXIL”), a global leader in housing and building materials, products and services, announced that a total of ten of its products have received the prestigious iF DESIGN AWARD 2017. The ten winning products were made up of five LIXIL brand products and five products from GROHE.

The iF DESIGN AWARD is an international design competition organized by the International Forum Design (IFD) in Germany and is one of the most coveted international design awards in the industry. This year’s winners were selected from over 5500 entries from 59 countries.

LIXIL was recognized for its Family Line Palette interior building materials; a line-up of interior doors, counters and drawers that provide a natural wooden feel and painted finish. Other products to receive awards included LIXIL’s multi-functional public restroom (YPTWC series) for people with disabilities, designed around comfort and ease-of-use.

GROHE was awarded among others for its Sensia Arena shower toilet, which merges LIXIL’s cutting-edge technology from Japan with European design, in addition to its Blue Home water faucet, which can deliver filtered, chilled, still, medium and sparkling water.

At the core of each of these products is LIXIL’s design philosophy, integrating human-centric innovation, beautiful aesthetics and high quality. LIXIL will continuously bring together the know-how and expertise of its global brands, pursuing new ideas and solutions that improve our living spaces and environmental sustainability - from water technology to home and building materials.
