LIXIL Announces New Headquarters From 2019

Move will speed up decision-making and enhance communication and collaboration

Tokyo, Japan – LIXIL Corporation (“LIXIL”), a global leader in housing and building materials, products and services, announced today that it will relocate its corporate headquarters within Tokyo in November 2019. LIXIL will also move many of its other offices in Tokyo, including those of group companies, to the same location. This consolidation will help speed up decision-making, streamline operations, and facilitate collaboration.

To host its new headquarters, LIXIL is now expanding its LIXIL WING campus in Ojima, Koto-ku, to accommodate approximately 5,000 employees in total. The newly expanded building will also serve as a new R&D center, promoting open innovation and collaboration to accelerate R&D activities globally.

As part of this initiative, LIXIL is providing employees with the opportunity to contribute ideas for the new office design. The new facilities will facilitate a change in working style, helping to improve collaboration and efficiency, and create a more vibrant workplace culture. The expanded complex will also adopt the latest technologies to better connect employees in Japan and overseas.

“We are creating a workspace that will make it easier for individuals to informally network, and teams to connect, collaborate and innovate,” said Kinya Seto, President and CEO of LIXIL. “From day-to-day operations, to our working spaces, to the ways that we collaborate and interact with our colleagues, we are transforming LIXIL and laying the foundations for the future.”
